Chinese Medicine for BodyTalkers

Would you like to learn enough about Chinese Medicine to be able to bring the insights of a system that is thousands of years old to your sessions?

This new course, aimed specifically at BodyTalk practitioners, will get you up to speed quickly. BodyTalk draws heavily on Chinese Medicine in its design; however there is wealth of insight available from this ancient system that could be explored more fully.

Many clients present with multiple symptoms that appear unrelated, yet result from a single imbalance from a Chinese Medicine perspective. Clients feel calmer and more confident when a practitioner can help them see their issues in a simpler way.

Having this knowledge will help BodyTalk practitioners realize that a client with multiple problems/symptoms often has only one simple imbalance. That insight alone can be a treatment in and of itself.

The definitions that you learn in this course can be applied virtually anywhere in the protocol to aid your clarity of observation and will be very useful for client communication and rapport.

This course covers the basics of Traditional Chinese Medicine in a way that allows practitioners to easily apply definitions in their sessions.

Also included:

An extensive manual

Easy to use reference pages
